Flour is dull, but without change, and to make sales concessions would have to be made; the demand is light. There was but a small lot Wheat offered to-day, and no sales were reported; prices are unchanged. Corn shows a decided decline since Saturday, and 65 was the aighest price unid to-day; receipts have considerably increased, and we note sales of 3500 bushels at the above figures. A small lot of Rye brought 95, and 200 bushels of Oats 51 and 53. Country produce unchanged.

FIRM REPORT.-Since Saturday there have been received at Fishtown about 2000 Shad and 28,400 Herrings. Shad brought from 18 to $20 per hundred, and Herrings $3 per thousand.

C., May 14, 1877-10:30 a. m.-For the Middle States stationary or slowly falling barometer, slight rise in temperature, winds variable, but mostly from southeast and southwest, clear or partly cloudy weather, folowed at southwestern stations by increasing coudiness and possibly rain areas.

esq., teck place from his late residence at the corner of Wolfe and St. Asaph streets, last Sa's urday afternoon. The spacious, but griefstricken mansion, was so crowded with the re latives and friends of the deceased that many persons were unable to gain admission to the parlors, where the services were held.

The body was enclosed in a handsome, massive metallic casket with silver handles and ornaments from the establishment of Messrs. Wm. Demaine & Soo, and was literally buried in and surrounded with flowers, the display of rare exotics woven into crosses, crowns, &c., surpassing anything ever before seen in this eity. A magnificent silver plate on the lid of the easket bore the inscription:

FRANCIS L. SMITH, DIED MAY 10th, 1877.

"ASLEEP IN JESUS." The beautiful burial service of the Protestant Episeopal Church was recited at the house in a most impressive macher by Rev. Dr. Norton, assisted by Rav. Drs. Spring and Dame of this city and Packard of the Theological Seminary. The choir of St. Paul's Church was also present and rendered the musical portion of the service

At the conclusion of the services the corpse was borne to the hearse by eight body bearers. L. J. Smith, Clifton H. Smith, F. L. Smith, ir., and Courtland II. Smith, soas of the deceased; W. E. Strong and E. L. Daingerfield, his sous-in-law; B. M. Smith and R. W. Smith, his nephews, acted as pall bearers, and waiked their last resting place in the Presbyterian cometery, where they were deposited in a walled grave, and, after the final prayers had been recited, were covered with flowers, and the attendants being dismissed, the grave was arched over in the presence only of the immediate family of the deceased.

Among the attendants present from a disance were Maj. W. T. Sutherlin, of Danville: Messrs. Boylston and Hubbell, of Baltimore; Messrs, Appleby, Kent, Marrison and Colonel Mosby, of Washington, and Gen. W. H. F. Lee and Thos. Moore, e.q., of Fairfax county. Tous were committed to the earth the last remains of an affectionate husband and father, an honored and nonorable ciozen, and an exemplary christian gentleman,

The tollowing notices of the deceased are taken from some of our exchanges.

Death is always terrible, and the awfal simmuch to him who is gone before as to those whom he has left behind, removed from their midst where he shone with so many virtues, so and a Christian life creates and perfects. In the girole of his own family the complete accord and sweetness of his nature was only to be pefectly seen and appreciated; as a pairiarch of old, he fashioned his tife within those holy precincts to represent by analogy the guiding hand of that other altar. In the world he was known as a man of eminent professional ability, honored as a gen tleman of stern, steadfast integrity of life, and blessed for all these virtues that constitute a man and gentleman. To his bereaved family, crushed beneath this great and irreparable loss, we tender the most heartfelt sympathy, and all who knew him join with us in its expression. In their hour of sorrow, He only who knew with them the period soul of the deceased can ing to learn of the sudden death of Mr. Francis L. Smith. Mr. Smith had been in feeble health for some weeks past, but his death was not expected. He died during the night from apoplexy or heart disease. He was born in A. W. Smith, many years clerk of Fauquier County Court and a practicing lawyer, and the grandson of Captain John Hawkins, of the revolution. In councetion with Messrs. Robert Brocket and Charles E. Stuart, he represented for several years before Congress and the Leg islature of Virginia the interests of Alexandria, county, about the year 1832, he was the first Commonwealth's Attorney of that county. He came here about 1840, and has since that time resided in this city and practiced his profession in the courts of this vicinity.-Alexandria

SUIT FOR DAMAGES. - Geo. Scott and Joseph

Bergman, the two horse dealers who were arrested to Baltimore in January last, for alleged complicity in the theft of a horse from Mr. Ball, of Loudoun, for which Otho Gant was afterwards sent to the penitentiary, as has been heretofore fully noticed in the Gazette, have instituted suits for damages against the police captain by whom they were arrested and the justice by whom they were tried. They lay their damages at $10,000 in each case, and charge that on several occasions the police captain publicly said, respecting each of the plaintiffs, "he is a thief and he is guilty of the charge for which he is in custody," and "I consider every horse dealer a thief." Bergman High So also entered suit to recover $300 damages from Charles Brinkman, for alleged trespass, misrepresentation and deceit. The declaration states that defendant, in company with Gant, on the 1st of January, sold plaintiff for $150 a

Mr. VERNON DISTRICT .- A meeting of citizens of Mt. Vernon District, Fairfax Co., irrespective of party, was held at Pullman's Schoolhouse, on Saturday. N. W. Pierson was call-ed to the chair, and R. W. Gaillard appointed bushed, shot in his buggy, robbed and left

The following nominations for district officers were made: -Supervisor, N. W. Pierson; Overseer of the Poor, A. C. Landstreet; Jus tices of the Peace, J. Owen Kerby, Robert Wiley, and John Breders; Commissioners of Roads, R. W. Gaillard, W. Gillingham, and Samuel Pullman; and Constable, J. H. Sartie.

The meeting then asjourned.

DEAD CHILD FOUND .- Considerable excitement was created in the southwestern section of the city yesterday evening by the finding in Penny Hill of a box containing the dead body of a colored infant. Rumors of violence were rife and the bex was carried to the Midland tool house for investigation. It turned out, however, that the child had been still born, and its father was given a permit by the Mayor to bury it in Penny Hill, and carried it there, but, for some unexplained reason, had laid it down, and gone off. The body was finally taken charge of by a colored man, who buried it.

> THE FISHERIES.-The receipts of fish contique light from many of the shores, and there seems not to be much prospect of a remunerative fishery. The report of a general "cutting out" along the river, is incorrect, or, at least, premature. The great trouble with the fishermen seems to be the low prices and the indisposition of the packers to barrel any fish, or carry any large stock.

THE POTATO BUGS .- A secret meeting of those interested in the formation of a "People's Ticket" was held at the Friendship engine house on Saturday night. The proceedings have not been made public, but it is understood that a ticket was formed which will not be promulgated until after the result of the conservative primary election is known.
